

INVOCATION

*Creator of the Universe, be with us
as this graduating class celebrates its transition to new beginnings.*

*During this hour, enable them to focus on the hills (not the valleys),
on the good relationships (not ones that have soured),
on mutual good-will (not petty jealousies),
on their individuality (not their conformity), and
on their joys (not their sorrows).*

May they acknowledge the benefits gained in this school (not just its imperfections).

*And, may all of us honoring these graduates
be filled with the same celebrating Spirit, united in our respect for who they are, and for what they have achieved.           Amen.*

BENEDICTION

*God grant you the courage to be unique;
may you let go of confining ideas, envision what is truly possible,
and risk new beginnings.*

*God inspire you to set reasonable goals and limits for yourself;
may you persist beyond obstacles, but learn to say "no" as well as "yes."*

*God grant you the Spirit to share your life with others;
may you depend on them and they on you.*

*God empower you to find life's purpose in love with others;
may you also discover satisfaction in whatever work you may do.*

*God grant you strength to cope with treacheries and tragedies beyond your control;
may you also admit to your own errors and grow from them.*

*God enable you to laugh and to hope in an imperfect world;
may you also have the wisdom to be quiet, to think, and to wonder.*

May God give to those of us over thirty the wisdom to spare you from repeated unwanted advice, but instead to share with you the joys and burdens now of your own making.

*And, open our eyes, O Lord, that we may all see the Love and goodness available to us this hour* in the years to come!           Amen.*

*The Rev. Richard T. Nolan, Pastor
Saint Paul's Parish, Bantam*
